Business Needs It; So Does Athletics

That the merchants of this town would not lose, but would gain business, in a measure, by a Wednesday half-day holiday during the summer months, is the opinion of The Advertiser. That on a afternoon once a week would soon centre to itself the athletic events of the season and that the farmer who forgets that the stores are closed on that afternoon and who comes to town to trade that day, will be more than compensated by the afternoon, Saturday, or other sport, seems reasonable.

That the merchant is absolutely necessary and if all the businesses were closed on say Wednesday afternoon, no one merchant could have advantage over another. This could be arranged even more markedly now that "the store that never shut" is no more. Get out a petition asking the council to pass a Wednesday afternoon closing by-law and see who will refuse to sign.

Sport, clean, manly sport, has a business value to a town and should be encouraged as a business-bringer. The town that has its attractions, sports day, street fairs, games, and the like, has an advantage over its rivals, and, all other things being equal, will draw trade to itself on the strength of these attractions.

Athletics is losing its hold in this town, not because people are growing too old, or too graying, not because of any decadence of the spirit so much as it is because of lack of opportunity to enjoy. Games that a citizen after a full day of business, must hurriedlygulp down a dinner (or go without) to go out to the park for a game that must be called for 6:30 or 7 in order to beat off night shadows, cannot get the enthusiasm behind them which is necessary to their continuance.

A letter was received by W. G. Moffatt on Tuesday from "Dud" Munro. It contained no war news, what little there had been having been censored. "Dud" was slightly out of time of writing and had seen many war trench work.

Mainly About War

The Canadians wanted their guns back and they went and took them, out are the Adishal Indians coming out with the strong statement that drunkenness is delaying repair work in the British navy.

The torpedoing of a few more Yankee steamers will soon settle the neutrality question. Germany seems bent upon self-destruction.

It seems an open season for British trawlers, the Germans bagging nine in one day's shooting. But wait until the British game guards get hold of the packers.

Owing to friction between the American Belgian Relief commission and the Germans, 200 large loads of provisions for the starving people are being held up at Rotterdam, Holland.

Boards of trade, labor organizations, ministerial associations, public men, businessmen, private citizens, representatives of everything and anything are sending letters of protest to Premier Borden and the leader of the opposition against the holding of an election at this time of strain. But "Bob" is said to want it and what "Bob" wants goes.

According to a statement handed out by Gen. Sam Hughes on Monday of this week, the Canadian casualties for the period, April 22nd to 30th, were almost 6,000. These are given as follows: Ali raus, killed 705, wounded 2162, missing 256. This is exclusive of the officers earlier reported. The battle of Langemarck will be long remembered with grief in many Canadian homes.

The positivists have had a little news coming their way this week. The advance of the Germans in the Russo-Baltic provinces may endanger the communications of the Russian forces. China's chilling reply to Japan's virtual ultimatum may cause annoying complications. The shelling of Dunkirk by the German heavy guns at a distance of 18 miles indicate a very healthy corps in France.

The Strathcona Horse of which are E. T. Gray and Guy Boddy, from Claresholm, have been ordered to Turkey to assist in the forcing of the Dardanelles. The Fort Garry Horse also ordered to the Gallipoli Peninsula. Sam Bryan and "Dad" Munro are in the trench fighting in Belgium.

April Stock Inspection Report

The report of J. E. Moffatt, stock inspector for this shipping point, for April, shows 1332 logs, 57 cattle and 1 horse inspected. A mixed car was shipped to C. V. Vassan, St. Paul, the stock having been picked up by J. M. Workman and D. P. Williams.

In all 750 hogs went to St. Paul. Wall's Bros. shipped 136 pigs to Victoria, B.C. and 141 hogs to Calgary. These were only those shipments which were inspected at this point.

The latter firm have made extensive shipments other than those reported. Seventeen head of sheep came west to the Calgary spring Cattle Show.

Will Go to Wesley College

The Rev. Eber Curran, D. D., pastor of Wesley Methodist Church, Vancouver and formerly pastor of Grace Church, Winnipeg, has been offered and has accepted the principalship of Wesley College, Winnipeg.

Mr. Curran is a worthy successor to the late Principal Sparling and Wesley College is fortunate in his acceptance.

Extensive fencing operations are under way the '44 and Canon Ranches. Several carloads of posts and of fencing wire have been unloaded here lately and the delivery of this and the fencing contract work is in the hands of D. B. Vanhorn, of the Palace Livery Bara,

Damon and Pythias Attracts

Two good-sized crowds attended the Damon and Pythias pictures at the Rex Theatre last Friday afternoon and evening. These pictures were secured and placed on exhibition here by J. C. Wainwright, special deputy of the grand chancellor of the Alberta Knights of Pythias.

The story is strikingly portrayed in the foundation stone of the principles and aims of the Knights of Pythias.

But Don't Overdo It

Chief Running Wolf, of the Blood Reserve, who is 67 years of age, predicts a rainy season for 1915. He says that five dry years are always followed by a series of moist years in this country.

It may be right. It has come under our own observation that almost every dry spell has been terminated by rain or snow.

Adds to Former Successes

Willard McKinney, who has just finished his second year at the University of Alberta, returned home last week. The results of the examinations add to Willard's scholastic successes, having been first in his first class in Chemistry (2) and in Latin with second class standing (69 to 85 per cent) in the former and first class in Latin composition with third class standing.

The positivists have had a little news coming their way this week. The advance of the Germans in the Russo-Baltic provinces may endanger the communications of the Russian forces. China's chilling reply to Japan's virtual ultimatum may cause annoying complications. A QUEEN POTENTATE,

Boss of Mandchuria Was Driven
For Curriage of State.

In spite of the fact that Mandchuria has been declared a republic, with the Emperor as President, Jow Shoo Mu, the government minister, who is also known as the despot of Tientsin, has not given up his power, but still holds the position of power behind the throne of the nominal ruler of the country, and can command life and death, mean life or death to the North Mandchurian and he will still, despite the fact that he is now a republic, still hold most autocratic power.

He travels about in a carriage which is always drawn by two horses. Always he rides two Mandchurian soldiers dressed in smart khaki uniform of European style, and wearing mandarin hats such as might have been fashioned from some model of the Ming emperors, except that it is drawn by two unarmored men. There are windows on each side, the front ones fitted with shutters, and the rear ones with bars. His power can be seen sitting tall, erect, wearing a white conical feathered hat, a long white beard, a coat of red silk and the famous peacock feather of mandarinry. At the side of his carriage are two soldiers in which stand the two footmen. Within a moment's cessation one of these footmen would draw his sword and gives the effect of a complete Fire Department making its way through the crowd, while the other footman, a single mounted soldier brings up the rear.

Attended to It.

A certain library was very absent-mindedly left open, and absented himself from his profession. As the telephone was out of order his wife asked him to go to the station to get a message to the library. On his consenting she ran to his desk and hastened to write a note to the library, a list of sample library cards—made up a list which she had learned in the course of her studies and promised not to forget. At about that night she reminded him of his promise.

"I was going to give you your favorite book, but I have just now six in it and whipped cream," he assured him reproachfully, "but I will get you another one as soon as I can."

"The grocer didn't bring him or anything else I ordered. You know he is a good man."

"Indeed, I didn't forget," he assured her earnestly. "I am perfectly sure I didn't."

"That's odd," was the answer. They are not usually absent about their work, but he did say, "I'll check," he repeated vaguely.

"I don't see it in the list of enlightenment he added, with a gap.

"What?" he asked. "I did not put it in the list, but I am afraid I did not see it in the catalogues under the name of the author, indeed, I thought it was a good book."

"It is a good book, indeed," he said.

A Timely Red Cross Appeal

Our country, with its Allies, is waging a great war for justice, for the protection of small nations in the enjoyment of their rights, for continued and growing freedom, and for the maintenance of its pledged word of honour. Much destruction and desolation are being caused. Lives are being lost by the thousand, Canada's first contingent is now in the thick of it. Some will fall sick; many may be wounded; some will pay the last full measure of devotion to their country and its cause.

The Red Cross Society exists to succor the sick and wounded in war. It needs more money to provide more beds at hospital in Great Britain and France; it needs more money to pay more Red Cross Nurses; it needs more money, and more things made by women, to supply to Clearing Hospital, Base Hospitals, and Recovering Hospitals.

I appeal to farmers to send me sums from $1 to $50, during the first week in May. Every $5 provides one additional hospital bed with the giver's name over it. By sending me about $10,000, you would serve your country well, bring credit to yourselves, and make all of us very proud of you. For the sake of the wounded boys, make the gift now.

Faithfully yours a friend
Jas. W. ROBINSON,
Chairman

Most Worthy of Observance

Arber Day is not observed in Canada to the extent which its importance warrants.

The people of Canada must ever keep in mind their dependence upon their forests. With large areas suitable only for forestry purposes, it is essential that the value of trees and their protection should be thoroughly impressed upon Canadians.

While Arbor Day is observed in the rural schools, and in some city schools, its recognition by the general public is not as general as it should be.

In the province of Alberta, Arbor Day is a public holiday. It is very generally observed by the towns and school districts for the planting of trees and flowers. More general public recognition should be given to Arbor Day.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The press trouble which we have had accounts for the delay in issue. We are negotiating for the replacement of our newspaper press with a more reliable one and expect to have this department of our activity put into sound a basis as is other departments of our business.

This week has been better wrapper week and we have turned out several thousand of wrappers for those who are making good butter, on which they are not ashamed to place their name.

This "war tax" that is not by any conceivable perverting of facts a war tax, is being evaded by large concerns, which are sending their circulars to be printed in U. S. cities and mailed from these points to Canadian customers at the old rate of postage. Thus Canadian postal revenue is being lost and the printing and mailing charges are lost to Canadian printers. When one considers the large bulk of postal revenue which comes from the continuous program of circularizing followed by the many large manufacturing and distributing concerns of Canada, it is evident how great is the loss occasioned by this retrograde step by the postal department. The man who sends perhaps less than 100 letters a year pays a tax extra dollar to postal revenue; the concern which issues say 20,000 circulars per month, by this evasion, saves $2,400 in postage and the postal revenue is depleted by double that and if circulars are mailed, by triple that amount.

We publish today an appeal on behalf of the Red Cross Society, Dr. John W. Robertson.

Dr. Robertson is still best known to the farmers of Canada as Professor Robertson. He began his official public service at the Ontario Agricultural College nearly thirty years ago. Twenty-five years ago he went to Ottawa as Dairy Commissioner for the Dominion. The Dairying Service of the Department of Agriculture seems known now and trusted throughout Canada. From Prince Edward Island to Alberta, farmers profited by the Illustration Dairy Stations and the Travelling Instructors. The output of cheese and butter in Canada added to the reputation of its rural workers.

Other public services of consulting and growing value were inaugurated, while Professor Robertson was Commissioner of Agriculture. Among them were the Live-Stock Branch, the Cold Storage Service, the Seed Grain Competitions, Trial Shipments of Fruits to the United Kingdom, and Extensions of Markets.

Besides there were the Manual Training Movement, the School Gardens, Household Science, and the Consolidated Rural School.

In more recent years, Dr. Robertson was Chairman of the Royal Commission on Industrial Training and Technical Education. Farmers in all provinces are familiar with the Survey of Farms by the Commission of Conservation and the Illustration Farms of its Commission on Land, of which he is chairman.

In these and many other ways Dr. Robertson has given the farmers of Canada the best that was in him. He says he is their leader, for many opportunities for much kindness and for warm appreciations. But they are his debtors, too. And he now reminds them of that for the first time in order to establish his right and privilege to appeal to them for this worthy cause.

Seedling in this vicinity is nearly finished. Farmers are expected that the cut-worm will take a large share of the profits this year as they are reported to be plentiful. From rumors, the army-worm may be headed this way from the east. But there is still no place for a army-worm buster in this neighborhood, all are optimists.

His neighbors turned out in a body to help finish the spring seeding for him, and ploughed and seeded 40 acres which remained to do.
